Let me win.
But if I cannot win, let me be brave in the attempt.

- Special Olympics Athlete Oath
WHAT IS SPECIAL OLYMPICS?

Special Olympics is the world’s largest sports organization for children and adults with intellectual disabilities, providing year-round sports training and competitions to more than 5 million athletes. Founded in 1968 by Eunice Kennedy Shriver, Special Olympics changes lives through the power of sport by encouraging and empowering people with intellectual disabilities, promoting acceptance for all, and fostering communities of understanding and respect worldwide.

A MESSAGE FROM THE BOARD PRESIDENT AND EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

As we look back upon 2017, there is much of which to be proud for Special Olympics Delaware. In our forty-seventh year, we are serving more athletes than ever, are in more schools than ever, and are making an even greater impact in the communities we serve.

Our area team structure is thriving, giving more athletes the opportunity to compete in a variety of sports competitions and develop broader skills and friendships. Our athletes, coaches, and staff set the bar high in providing training and competition that challenges everyone who participates.

2017 saw our first Bridge Run to Acceptance over the Delaware Memorial Bridge, with first responders providing a tremendous outpouring of support in the inaugural event. Law enforcement made sure that runners and drivers were all safe and that the event went smoothly. The runners raved about what a great event this was and vowed to return in 2018!

As part of the mission of Special Olympics, Inc., U.S. Special Olympics programs are being asked to provide guidance to countries where communities are developing their programs and need the experience and counsel of established programs. Special Olympics Delaware adopted Special Olympics Haiti as our international partner in support of helping them develop and grow their program for athletes who are underserved in that country.

Just as in sport training, our organizational strength comes from the repeated actions of so many dedicated volunteers who selflessly give of their time, talent, and energy. Each and every day, thousands of people across Delaware coach, guide, and mentor our athletes to do their best no matter the sport or activity in which they participate. Whether through individual efforts, corporate events, or community partnerships, our volunteers breathe life into Special Olympics Delaware every day.

We are truly grateful for the support, and look forward to continued growth to ensure that no athlete that wants to compete has to sit on the sidelines.

Sincerely,

Ed DeLooze
Board President
Special Olympics Delaware

Ann Grunert
Executive Director
Special Olympics Delaware
Special Olympics Delaware is committed to continuing quality sports programs, increasing opportunities for our athletes, and building greater managerial, operational and financial stability throughout the organization.

In 2017, Charity Navigator, America’s largest and most utilized independent evaluator of charities, awarded Special Olympics Delaware the prestigious 4-star rating.
We change lives through the power of sports.

Special Olympics Delaware is an accredited program of Special Olympics Inc. and has been a part of this powerful global movement since 1971. Our organization serves more than 4,200 individuals with intellectual disabilities throughout the state of Delaware and uses sports as a platform to create life-changing experiences for those involved in our program.

Special Olympics Delaware offers community-based Area programs for children and adults with intellectual disabilities in five geographical locations. School-based programs for Special Olympics athletes are also offered in more than 160 schools. Athletes are encouraged to be involved in both school-based and Area programs to maximize their sports involvement.

Special Olympics athletes train as hard as any other athletes because Special Olympics is real sports. Athletes of all abilities practice for at least eight weeks under the guidance of trained coaches in preparation for their final competition. Competitions of all sizes are held across the state throughout the year, both in the five local Area programs and participating schools. In 2017, 65 competitions were held in Delaware.

Special Olympics is based on the belief that people with intellectual disabilities can enjoy a better quality of life through participation in sports. Our programs provide critical opportunities to forge friendships, learn new skills, build confidence and discover independence. As a result, Special Olympics athletes become fulfilled and productive members of their families and the communities in which they live.

Special Olympics is much more than just sports.

Initiatives enhance the mission of Special Olympics Delaware and offer athletes of all abilities the opportunity to be introduced to Special Olympics at a young age, provide the chance to improve their health and fitness, progress beyond their role as competitors through leadership, and encourage school-age youth to celebrate differences and break down barriers.

Young Athletes™ Program

Special Olympics Young Athletes Program is a unique sports and play program for children ages 2-7 with intellectual and/or developmental disabilities and their typically developing peers in an inclusive setting. The program focuses on the basics that are crucial to cognitive development -- physical activities that develop motor skills and hand-eye coordination, and the application of these physical skills through sports and social interaction.

Healthy Athletes® Program

Special Olympics is the world’s largest public health organization for people with intellectual disabilities. Through our Healthy Athletes® program, we offer free medical screenings, health education and resources to enhance our athletes’ overall well-being and to help them become strong competitors in sports and in life. These screenings and exams are conducted by local medical professional volunteers and are provided at no cost to Special Olympics athletes.
Athlete Leadership Program

Integral to Special Olympics is a dedication to empowerment and dignity. Athlete Leadership Programs allow athletes to learn leadership skills and explore new opportunities outside the playing field. Athletes are empowered to serve as board members, serve on local Athlete Input Councils and committees, represent their peers at Athlete Leadership Conferences, volunteer at Special Olympics fundraisers, and act as spokespersons for our organization.

Motor Activities Training Program (MATP)

Motor Activities Training Program is designed for athletes with severe or profound intellectual disabilities, including athletes with significant physical disabilities who are unable to participate in official Special Olympics sport competitions because of their skill and/or functional abilities. It prepares them for sport-specific activities appropriate for their abilities. Emphasis is on training and participation, rather than competition. Activities can be conducted in schools and large residential facilities, as well as in community-based settings.

Unified Sports®

Special Olympics Unified Sports® is an inclusive sports program that brings together Special Olympics athletes (individuals with disabilities) and Unified Partners (individuals without disabilities) through sports and friendship. Unified Sports promotes social inclusion through shared sport training and/or competition experiences. By providing the opportunity to participate together, Unified Sports® helps to develop increased understanding of persons with different abilities.

Interscholastic Unified Sports® and DIAA

The Interscholastic Unified Sports® program is a partnership between Special Olympics Delaware and the Delaware Interscholastic Athletic Association (DIAA).

Through this partnership, high school students with and without disabilities train and compete on the same team in the Unified Sports divisions of flag football and track & field that are sanctioned by the DIAA. Participating schools, along with their athletic departments and administration, support Unified Sports and treat their SODE Unified teams as they do all other varsity sports -- accepted, respected, and celebrated.

Unified Champion Schools

The Unified Champion Schools program is a dynamic collaboration between Special Olympics and school communities, engaging young people with and without disabilities to join together through a variety of sports experiences. This becomes a pathway to promoting attitudes and behaviors of acceptance and inclusion in schools.

Unified Champion Schools also build on youth leadership and social advocacy within the schools, helping to bring greater awareness for respecting people with intellectual disabilities through efforts such as the Respect campaigns (Spread the Word to End the Word). Youth engagement, Unified Sports and whole-school awareness are cornerstones of the Unified Champion Schools program.
JAN

More than 1,500 Special Olympics athletes and Unified partners from school and Area programs trained in the sport of bowling. For the first time, bowling tournaments were held in the Areas to provide increased competition opportunities and serve as qualifiers for the state tournament.

FEB

In 2017, Special Olympics Delaware eclipsed the $10M mark for total money raised over 26 years of the organization’s signature fundraiser, the Lewes Polar Bear Plunge. More than 3,600 people braved the cold Atlantic Ocean waters off the Rehoboth Beach coast to support year-round sports programming for more than 4,200 Special Olympics athletes in Delaware.

MAR

Four Special Olympics Delaware athletes represented the United States in the sports of snowshoeing and alpine skiing at the 2017 Special Olympics World Winter Games in Austria. Special Olympics World Games take place every two years and alternate between Summer and Winter Games, showcasing the skills and accomplishments of people with intellectual disabilities on a global stage.

JUL

As part of the new SODE Strategic Plan, the organization renewed its commitment to empower athletes by including them as powerful spokespersons and leaders for the movement through their engagement in Athlete Leadership Programs (ALPs). A statewide Athlete Input Council was also established to provide athlete involvement through new pathways, in addition to sports.

AUG

Special Olympics Delaware offers a three-day, two-night camp experience to more than 100 athletes every summer featuring traditional camp activities. Held over two back-to-back weeks at Camp Barnes in southern Delaware, athletes and student volunteers enjoy camaraderie and typical camp activities including swimming, archery, canoeing, kayaking and crafts.

SEP

Special Olympics athletes from Delaware, Maryland and Virginia competed in the annual Special Olympics Delaware Cycling Classic at the Dover Air Force Base Air Mobility Command Museum as part of the start to the Fall Sports season. Also during the month of September, the SODE state Golf Tournament was held in Kent County featuring athletes and their Unified partners.
More than 450 athletes and Unified partners competed in the 2017 Special Olympics Delaware State Basketball Tournament in front of hundreds of families and friends. The state tournament, held at the University of Delaware's Bob Carpenter Center, capped off an intense season of practices and mid-season games all around the state.

The seventh annual ‘Over the Edge’ event challenged dozens of Delawareans to rappel down a 17-story building, all for a great cause. Nearly 100 participants each raised a minimum of $1,100 to go ‘Over the Edge’ in this annual fundraiser, rappelling 222 feet down the 300 Delaware Ave. building in Wilmington and raising $138,000 for the organization.

Special Olympics Delaware held its 47th Summer Games at the University of Delaware’s Athletic Complex. More than 690 athletes and nearly 100 Unified partners — peers without disabilities — from across the state competed in six sports: Swimming, Softball, Tennis, Powerlifting, Bocce and Track & Field.

For the first time ever, the Delaware Memorial Bridge hosted a 5K Run with Special Olympics as the beneficiary. This inaugural event was limited to active and retired first responders as officials worked through the safety and logistical details involved with organizing and executing an event of this nature for the first time.

More than 500 Special Olympics athletes and Unified Partners competed at the Special Olympics Delaware Fall Sports Festival at St. Andrew’s School featuring long distance running and round-robin tournaments in flag football, soccer, bocce and volleyball. During the Opening Ceremony, Chase was honored for its 20th consecutive year as Presenting Sponsor of the event.

Now in its second year, the Unified Flag Football state championship game kicked off at the UD football stadium in December. This program was formed in partnership between Special Olympics Delaware and the Delaware Interscholastic Athletic Association and enables students with and without disabilities to train and compete together.
By partnering with Special Olympics programs, Law Enforcement volunteers lead the way as champions of acceptance and inclusion.
YEAR-ROUND PARTNERS ($250,000+)

Delaware Law Enforcement for Special Olympics

Law Enforcement Torch Run® for Special Olympics (LETR) is a global volunteer movement that was established by members of the law enforcement community to support Special Olympics. Here in our state, Delaware Law Enforcement for Special Olympics (LESO) and the LETR have proudly supported Special Olympics Delaware for over 31 years and raised more than 6 million dollars for our organization.

The flame burns bright each year as countless Law Enforcement officers share their time as volunteers, participants, medal presenters, coaches and Unified partners for Special Olympics Delaware events and competitions.
We empower athletes to shatter stereotypes and exceed their personal bests on the playing field and in life, through the power of sports.
